

10/ 005698

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A venetian blind lift cord locking structure to fasten one end of the lift cord, is comprised of a plate having a hole; a cut in the plate to one end of the hole, and end surfaces formed on both sides of the cut being tightly close to each other so that once the pull applied to the lift cord exceeds a specific value, the lift cord is released to prevent from accident due to trip or tangle by the lift cord.